Why do I need to mark a party box?

For this election only, you must mark and sign a party declaration for your vote to count. The major political parties require voters to mark a party box.

- If you mark the Democratic Party box, you must vote for a Democrat.
- If you mark the Republican Party box, you must vote for a Republican.

Attempts to change the party declaration wording could result in your ballot not being counted.

Your choice of party will not affect how you may vote in future elections.

Vote for one.

You may vote for one candidate or the “uncommitted” option, but not both.
• A vote for one candidate listed on the ballot directs party delegates to support that candidate at their national convention.
• A vote for “uncommitted” allows uncommitted party delegates who represent Washington to decide during their national convention.

Each political party decides which candidates are printed on their side of the ballot. The uncommitted option was requested by the Democratic Party. It was not requested by the Republican Party. Once the list of candidates is submitted to the Office of the Secretary of State, changes cannot be made. (RCW 29A.56)
